

April 7, 2025

Key points:

- The retaliatory U.S. tariffs resulted in the European markets plunging 9.2% last week. The Stoxx 600, which is in a Downtrend, has breached all its key support levels and is now testing support around its early August 2024 levels. Next support is at 462, 6% below Friday's close. The possibility of a tariff war emerging between two of the largest economies has spiked after China introduced counter-tariffs against the U.S. As a result, the European stock market volatility index witnessed its biggest one-day jump in over two days.
- Historically, when European markets experienced sharp two-day selloffs greater than 9%—such as during the COVID-19 pandemic (March 2020; -10.8%), Brexit (June 2016; -10.9%), and the 2008 Financial Crisis (October 2008; -9.4%)—they subsequently rallied between 18% and 26% over the following 12 months. The exception was Black Monday (October 1987; -9.2%), where markets ended lower one year later. However, aside from the Brexit episode, each instance saw a further drawdown of 18–25% before bottoming, with the time to reach the bottom ranging from just over a week (COVID-19) to several months (Financial Crisis). This historical precedent suggests that while long-term recoveries are possible, the short-term downside risk remains elevated. As such, we advise investors to remain cautious and stay on the sidelines until there is greater evidence that markets have stabilized and found a durable bottom.
- Leadership remains narrow, with a low number of breakouts, the number of stocks setting up their stage-one bases is at the lowest level since February 2023, and stocks trading near their pivot level are at the lowest level since late October 2022. Around 10% of the stocks in the Stoxx 600 registered a gain last week. Only ~37% of the stocks are trading above their 200-DMA, 32% above their 100-DMA, and 22% above their 50-DMA.
- Among the major indices, Germany's DAX, France's CAC, and the U.K.'s FTSE fell 7–8% last week and are all trading below their 200-DAM support level. All European markets are now in a downtrend. The risk to the downside remains elevated. On the breach of the 200-DMA, the DAX could test support at 18,792 (5% below the current level), where the index had previously consolidated between mid-October and late-November 2024.

All European Indices in a Downtrend amid Tariffs and Trade War Concerns

- The Stoxx 600 fell 9.2% last week, breaching its 100- and 200-DMA. It is now trading 12% off its March 3 high. It was downgraded to a Downtrend.
- All the 16 indices we track in Europe breached their key support levels. Sixteen indices are in a Downtrend.

Historical Precedents

- Historically, when European markets experienced sharp two-day selloffs greater than 9%—such as during the COVID-19 pandemic (March 2020; -10.8%), Brexit (June 2016; -10.9%), and the 2008 Financial Crisis (October 2008; -9.4%)—they subsequently rallied between 18% and 26% over the following 12 months. The exception was Black Monday (October 1987; -9.2%), where markets ended lower one year later.
- However, aside from the Brexit episode, each instance saw a further drawdown of 18–25% before bottoming, with the time to reach the bottom ranging from just over a week (COVID-19) to several months (Financial Crisis). This historical precedent suggests that while long-term recoveries are possible, the short-term downside risk remains elevated. As such, we advise investors to remain cautious and stay on the sidelines until there is greater evidence that markets have stabilized and found a durable bottom.

Rotation Toward Defensive

- Last week, the long-time leading sector Banks declined sharply by 14%. It was one of the worst performing sectors in Europe, along with Mining (-15%), Oil & Gas (-12%), Financial Services (-11%), and Travel and Leisure (-11%).
- Utility (-1%), Food & Beverage (-2%), Telecom (-3%), Retail (-5%), and Chemicals (-5%) have been the relative outperformers.
- Most sectors have breached all their key support levels. Meanwhile, Telecom is testing support at its rising 10-DMA. Food & Beverage broke below its 50-DMA but is above its 100-DMA (-2%). Banks breached all its near- and mid-term levels and is testing support at the 200-DMA (-5%).
- Within Utility, Elia Group (ELI.BE) and National Gas Transmission (NG.GB) are setting up bases and have been sharply outperforming the market. In Consumer Staple, Danone (BSN.FR) broke out of a flat base in February and is testing support at its rising 50-DMA. Royal Unibrew (RBR.DK) is still trading within consolidation. Kerry Group (KRZ.IE), Orkla (ORK.NO), and Imperial Brands (IMP.GB) are some of the other strong setups in the space.
- On our rotation charts, Energy and Utility had strong momentum in recent weeks. The four-week momentum for Financials, Technology, and Capital Equipment stalled and we expect rapid deterioration in the upcoming weeks.

How To Read The Sector Card

European Focus List

O'Neil Recommendations

The European Focus List (EFL) is a proprietary list of long ideas that fit the fundamental and technical criteria of the O'Neil Methodology.

Top Rated

Stocks displaying the best Composite rating

The Composite Rating combines the EPS Rank, Relative Strength Rating, Industry Rank. SMR Group Rating. Accumulation/Distribution Rating, and the stock's percent off its 52-week high. More weight is placed on EPS Rank and Relative Strength Ratings. The resulting rating of technical and fundamental factors is compared against all other stocks in the trading country and assigned a rating from 1 to 99, with 99 being the best. A rating of 90 means the stock has outperformed 90% of all other stocks.

Outperforming

Stocks breaking out from consolidation

We recommend buying stocks at the breakout level. A breakout is a price movement of the security through an identified level of resistance (pivot point) after forming a consolidation base. Our proprietary chart patterns are based on over 50 years of our

Early Basing

Stocks trading near pivot

Stock near pivot point (last line of resistance) with improving technical characteristics and above average fundamental profile based on O'Neil proprietary ratings and rankings.

Laggards

Stocks below 200-DMA + 50-DMA in a downtrend

Laggards are stocks showing technical weakness. We believe these stocks are laggards relative to their own domestic markets and, if owned, need to be reviewed carefully as they may be vulnerable to further downside risk and underperformance.

U.S. FOCUS LIST & GLOBAL FOCUS LISTS DEVELOPED, EMERGING & FRONTIER MARKETS

The U.S. Focus List and Global Focus List for Developed, Emerging, and Frontier Markets seek to identify equity ideas for further research for institutional investors. Investors, before making investment decisions, should review and evaluate additional information, such as a company's SEC filings, business model, industry fundamentals, management team, and products and services.

EXPLANATION OF PERFORMANCE CHARTS FOR U.S. FOCUS LIST & GLOBAL FOCUS LISTS

Performance results do not represent actual trading, and may not reflect the impact that material economic and market factors might have had on the investment decision-making process if actually managing client money. There is substantial speculative risk in most international stocks. Past performance is not necessarily an indication of future performance. Performance computations for the U.S. Focus List and Global Focus Lists reflect a time weighted rate of return. All holdings are rebalanced to equal dollar amounts daily. Dividends are not considered in computations. Commissions used in calculations are 50 basis points for stocks in the Global Focus List Emerging Markets and 20 basis points for stocks in the Global Focus List Developed Markets. Percent gains and losses are calculated for all issues that remain on the "Buy Recommendations" at the end of the week. For issues that were added to the "Buy Recommendations" intra-week, the basis used to calculate the percent change is the price noted when the issue appeared as a "Buy Recommendation" in both the U.S. Focus List or Global Focus List Confidential Alerts. For issues that were "Removed" intra-week, the selling price used to calculate the percent change is the price noted when the issue appeared as a "Buy Recommendation" in both the U.S. Focus List or Global Focus List Confidential Alerts. For issues that were "Removed" intra-week, the selling price used to calculate the percent change is the price noted when the issue appeared as a "Buy Recommendation" in both the U.S. Focus List or provide investment results that correspond generally to the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of publicly traded securities in the European, Australasian and Far Eastern markets, as measured by the MSCI EAFE Index.

The iShares MSCI Emerging Markets Index Fund seeks to provide investment results that correspond generally to the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of publicly traded securities in emerging markets, as represented by the MSCI Emerging Markets Index.

The benchmark is the S&P 500 Index, which is a market-capitalization weighted index containing the 500 most widely held companies (400 industrial, 20 transportation, 40 utility and 40 financial companies) chosen with respect to market size, liquidity, and industry. The volatility of the S&P 500 Index may be materially different from that of the strategy depicted, and the holdings in the strategy may differ significantly from the securities that comprise the S&P 500 Index. The S&P 500 Index is calculated on a total return basis with dividends reinvested and is not assessed a management fee.
