Key points:

- European markets continue to trade constructively, albeit amid increasing distribution in various stock exchanges, reflecting the geo-political and economic uncertainties in the region and trade relations between the U.S. and China.
- We increased our exposure to Technology, adding to our defensive plays in Staples and Health Care, on the back of few positive earnings.
- In this note, we focus on the FTSE 100 that could emerge as a leading index in 2019. While the political situation over Brexit seems deadlocked, the index remains an attractive venue for income and defensive investors looking for dividend yields. Underperforming for five years versus major European indices, the FTSE 100 currently trades at a discount.

 - > Stocks of interest include: SCT.GB and MONY.GB

COMMENTARY

I – Turning Cautiously Positive

- The iShares DJ STOXX 600 is in a Confirmed Uptrend with four distributions days. This week, the index continued to trade constructively toward its 200-DMA, the next key resistance.
- The broad recovery of European Markets year-to-date translates into a rising number of stocks breaking out (actionable ideas) among all sectors.
- Our bottom-up approach continued to drive ideas among Staples (CPR.IT, DGE.GB, MHG.NO, and GSF.NO) and Health Care (AFXX.DE and VITR.SE). However, we have increased our exposure to Technology this week, adding Nemetschek (NEMX.DE) and Dassault Systemes (DSY.FR).

II – Will the U.K. Market Be 2019's Best?

- While the political situation over Brexit seems deadlocked, the FTSE 100 Index is up 7.44% year-to-date, recovering from its worst performance in 10 years in 2018 (-12.5%). Although the index is still slightly underperforming the STOXX 600 (+10.0% year-to-date) since the broad-based market recovery, there are arguments the index could be one of the best performing in 2019.
 - 1. For the past five years, the FTSE 100 has underperformed other markets by a large margin (+6% versus 19% and 17% for the CAC40 and DAX30, respectively).

- The FTSE 100 trades at a forward dividend yield of 4.9% in 2019, one of the highest dividend yields among other developed market indices. With markets worldwide turning cautious in light of economic data pointing toward a global slowdown, investors could be prone to overweight their portfolios with dividend-paying stocks.
- 3. Currently, the FTSE 100 is priced near other indices, trading at a P/E forward ratio of 12.2x versus 13.2x for the STOXX 600. However, with expectations already lowered due to Brexit, we think the market might see a few positive surprises and amplified price reactions in a similar direction

O'NEIL RECOMMENDATIONS IN THE UK

HomeServe (HSV.GB) provides home repair, improvement, heating installation, and emergency services to more than 8.4M customers globally. Apart from the U.K. where it derives 39% of revenues, the Company is growing significantly in the U.S., the second largest market with 31% revenue share, organically and through acquisition. In FY 2018, the Company's U.S. customer base increased 20% y/y to reach 3.6M. HomeServe is also trying to boost its digital presence and services through acquisitions of Checkatrade and Habitissimo. The Company boasts an 82% retention rate.

➤ O'Neil Methodology: Shares forming a double bottom pattern, trading 2% from pivot at p990 on rising RS line. RS rating at 89, and strong up/down volume at 1.5. Buy on a breakout of pivot.

Telecom Plus (TEP.GB) resells utility services such as gas, electricity, fixed-line telephony, mobile telephony, broadband, and insurance services under the Utility Warehouse brand. The Company operates under a unique-asset light-business model, and incentivizes users with discounts and benefits for members of its Utility Warehouse Discount club. The Company is also poised to benefit from regulatory changes and price caps on Standard Variable Tariffs, which will reduce its procurement costs. Further, the Company's acquisitions, and unique marketing strategy, where it relies on word-of-mouth publicity and passing savings to consumers, are expected to fuel growth.

➢ O'Neil Methodology: Shares consolidating with key support at the 200-DMA. Buy on a breakout of p1530 resistance.

UK - Stocks of Interest

Diageo (DGE.GB) is the world's largest alcohol producer, producing more than 6.5B liters a year among its 200 brands, and operating in more than 180 countries. The Company is expected to grow in midsingle digits, outperforming the industry's low single-digit growth, on the back of premiumization, new products with double-digit growth, growth in APAC emerging markets, and emphasis on ecommerce.

➤ O'Neil Methodology: Shares actionable (buyable) trading 5% above pivot on rising RS line and improving AD rating.

London Stock Exchange Group (LSE.GB) is the world's largest market infrastructure business. London Stock Exchange Group via the FTSE Russell is exposed to structural growth opportunities, as the FTSE Russell is a benchmark to assets worth $16T. The increase in ETF assets will be positive for index businesses, as around one-third of revenues for FTSE Russell and STOXX are asset-based. The Company holds a leadership position in OTC rates-clearing through its SwapClear service. As of Q3, SwapClear's total notional-cleared increased 22% to $812T. The Company will also benefit from MiFID II regulations. London Stock Exchange Group recently acquired the Yield Book and Citi Fixed Income Indices, which provides a significant opportunity to enhance the data and analytics capabilities of its information services division.

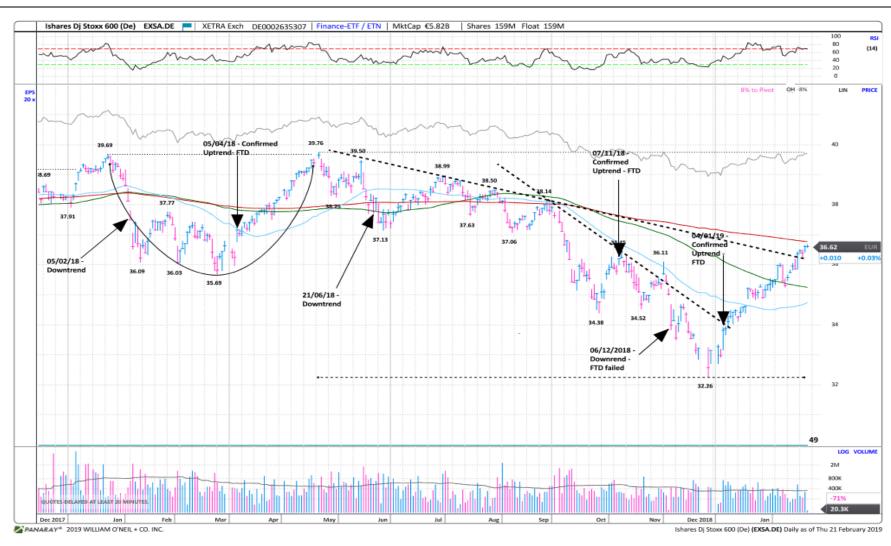

> O'Neil Methodology: Shares actionable (buyable) after breaking out of a 95-days cup-with-handle. RS rating at 89 and AD rating at B.

How To Read The Sector Card

Outperforming

Stocks breaking out from pivot

We recommend buying stocks at the breakout level. A breakout is a price movement of the security through an identified level of resistance (pivot point) after forming a consolidation base. Our proprietary chart patterns are based on over 50 years of our active research into the behavior of equities.

Top Rated

Stocks displaying the best Composite rating

The Composite Rating combines the EPS Rank, Relative Strength Rating, Industry Group Rank, SMR Rating, Accumulation/Distribution Rating, and the stock's percent off its 52-week high. More weight is placed on EPS Rank and Relative Strength Ratings. The resulting rating of technical and fundamental factors is compared against all other stocks in the trading country and assigned a rating from 1 to 99, with 99 being the best. A rating of 90 means the stock has outperformed 90% of all other stocks.

Underperformers

Stocks in which investors are losing interest

Underperformers are stocks showing technical weakness. We believe these stocks are laggards relative to their own domestic markets and, if owned as a long, need to be reviewed carefully as they may be vulnerable to further downside risk and underperformance.
